(Opposite page) An interior designer, Wendy Block Rodgers explains: "You can encourage a room in your own home to bloom. Pick a focal point and make that the most important feature," she advises. "This space of the Wigley Mansion came together when we found the floral wall mural from ARCA Environments (available through Trade Professionals or MADE, Materials for Designers, Scottsdale). As for the furnishings, think fanciful, fashionable and just a hint of French flair. "Choose plush seating and sparkly light fixtures, and don't be afraid to juxtapose historical pieces with some modern elements, such as a clear glass waterfall coffee table." While furniture is obviously integral to any room, in Block Rodgers' opinion it's the accessories that make the space special.
